DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Monopoli (5,036,166) in view of Bayles et al. (3,900,701).

Monopoli discloses a fence tape (Fig. 1) for transmitting an electrical current, comprising an electrically non-conductive support structure (10), and an electrically conductive conduction structure at least locally exposed electrically to the environment, having at least two different, electrically conductive materials having mutually distinctive electrical mechanical properties, a first one (copper 20) of the materials having a better electrical conductivity than the second one (stainless steel 15) of the materials, and the second one of the materials having a greater resistance to tensile and bending loads than the first one of the materials. Monopoli also discloses the conductive filament having a diameter between 0.05 and 1 mm.

Monopoli does not disclose the conduction structure comprising at least one composite filament having a conduction zone made from the first one of the materials and a self-supporting zone made from the second one of the materials, wherein the conduction zone constitutes a core of the composite filament and the self-supporting zone constitutes a jacket which envelops the core.

Bayles et al. discloses an electrical wire comprising a composite filament (10) which has a conduction zone (copper, col. 2, line 35) made from a first one of two materials and a self-supporting zone made from a second one (stainless steel) of the two materials, wherein the conduction zone constitutes a core of the composite filament and the self-supporting zone constitutes a jacket which envelops the core. Bayles et al. also discloses the conduction zone being in adhesion-free contact with the support zone, the composite filament having a cross-sectional area of which at least 5% forms part of the support zone.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use the composite filament as taught by Bayles et al. for the conductive filaments (15 and 20) of Monopoli since the composite filament taught by Bayles et al. has high temperature resistant properties (col. 2, lines 31-32).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed April 3rd 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that Monopoli is directed to a fence tape, while Bayles et al. is directed to an electrical cable, the test for obviousness is not whether the features of a secondary reference may be bodily incorporated into the structure of the primary reference; nor is it that the claimed invention must be expressly suggested in any one or all of the references. Rather, the test is what the combined teachings of the references would have suggested to those of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981).

In response to applicant's argument that Bayles et al. is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Bayles et al. is in the field of applicant's endeavor, electric lines.

In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

Summary

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
